

Fellow of the Institute of Acoustics

Douglas Manvell appointed Fellow of this leading professional body

February 8th, 2023 - Copenhagen, Denmark

DMdB's founder and director, Douglas Manvell, has just been appointed as a Fellow of the UK's Institute of Acoustics.

As Douglas states "I am very happy and proud to have been appointed as a Fellow of the UK's Institute of Acoustics, who I have been a member of for 30 years, and am very grateful to those who supported my application."

Nominated by leading UK acousticians for his work in contributing to sharing of knowledge and experience at conferences, and in helping to improve standardisation in acoustics, he was recognized as a prominent member of the European and international acoustics community who has made significant contributions to enhancing the standardisation of the acoustics profession, and in supporting the sharing of knowledge, expertise and solutions.

The Institute of Acoustics (IOA) is the UK's professional body for those working in acoustics, noise and vibration. The Institute has some 3000 members from a rich diversity of backgrounds and with a wide range of interests. Fellowship is granted to those who have made significant contributions to the field in responsible acoustical work.

For more information about the IOA, see here. For more information about environmental noise standards, or the services DMdB can provide, contact DMdB:
