

What's the Limit?

DMdB supplying MB Consultants with an international review of environmental noise limits

June 30th, 2022 - Copenhagen, Denmark

DMdB has just participated in a very interesting review of the environmental noise immission limits currently in use in several countries.

Requested by MB Consultants as part of their work for a major national governmental authority, the report provided an overview of noise immission limits in 4 countries with a concise tabular presentation of noise limits at residences for the most important sources to have a good comparative overview. The brief review is supported by many publicly available references concerning regional, application and national legislation of a larger number of countries, with focus on legislative and policy developments since 2000.

With a tight deadline and limited time available for the study, DMdB focused on collating an extensive listing of internet-based resources and potential experts willing to support further investigation from a wide range of countries, regions and organisations all over the world.

Dr. Bardisi, CEO of MB Consultants states "this study was invaluable to enable us to provide a quality-assured review of noise policy and legislation in several countries in a timely manner for our clients."
